NORFOLK PHOTOGRAPHY TOUR ITINERARY

This is a great day out with your own camera and with the support from a local, professional photographer who lives, breathes and works with this unique landscape with its long and diverse heritage. Throughout the day you will be surrounded by stunning landscapes, and engage in the technical and artistic challenges, before relaxing and reflecting over your evening A la Carte dinner. All the ingredients to inspire any visitor.

This day out is suitable for all, from beginners to advanced photographers.

We will be visiting and photographing wind pumps, ruins and the tranquil waterways of the Broads National Park. We may even spot a marsh harrier or two, as well as saying hello to the grey seals on the local beaches of Horsey.

Ideally, you will bring along your own digital camera, and ideally again, it will have an A or AV mode, an M or Manual mode and probably an S or TV mode. If not, don't worry. Most smartphones these days can be suitable too.

Sensible walking clothes/ footwear for the weather conditions are a must. Any walking throughout the day will be gentle, and be no more than 10 minutes to where you will need to be to get the perfect shot!

We will start the day after breakfast and come back after sunset dependent on dates booked.

Duration will be approximately 6 - 7 hours.

NORFOLK LANDSCAPE PHOTOGRAPHER HELEN STORER

'As a professional Norfolk photographer, I am so lucky have both the Broads National Park and the North Norfolk Coastline right here on my doorstep. I started my photography journey just over five years ago having found a love for using a digital camera and visiting traditional landscape photographer's hotspots. However, after a year or so I found myself getting bored, following the crowds and trying to appease social media with my photos. Two years ago, I made a conscious decision to do my own thing and follow the inner artist in me and I developed my own style of photography which is of an impressionist nature.

Last year I joined the Broads National Park Experience Collection as the lead photographer and in doing so, I have pledged to show the very best of the Broads National Park to both national and international visitors. In coming along to one of my photography tours, participants can be assured of having friendly support, time and space to learn new photographic skills whilst visiting the many wind pumps, tranquil waterways and ruined abbeys.'
